Password Reset for PC - DEPAW - Epic Games.We were recently posted with a Craigslist ad for a 2010 Subaru Impreza 2.0i turbo from a Californian. It featured a lot of information besides the basics, including a full list of service history and a link to a video of the vehicle being tested by the seller. As soon as I viewed this for sale, I immediately snapped it up. I had the chance to ask the seller some questions and here's a summary of what I was told. Geo-Position: 36° Engine: 2.0l turbo, Manual, 154,858 miles, Mitsuoka Blue Build-date: November 2009 Mileage: 154,858 miles Transmission: Automatic Heads: 16° Interior: Black interior Upper Doors: 5° Lower Doors: 6° Trunk Lid: 2° Doors: 6 Wheels: 18° Suspension: OEM struts Overview of vehicle This car has been in the family for many years, and had a lot of miles on the odometer before it came my way. Despite some technical issues, it runs and drives well. It's in very good mechanical and cosmetic condition with a lot of factory equipment. As mentioned in the ad, there's a lot of information about the vehicle, so let's take a look. Service History The seller claims that all fluids have been changed, and that the car has had service at Subaru of California from the time it was new, including the following. The fuel filter and manifold have been replaced. The radiator has been replaced. Steering fluid has been changed. Battery has been replaced. Clutch has been changed. Brake pads and rotors have been replaced. A/C has been replaced. Two cylinder bank pressure sensors have been replaced. Six cylinder cylinder head sensors have been replaced. Head gasket has been replaced. All fluids have been replaced. Other than that, the car has been well taken care of. That's a lot of service records, but they're all correct and are in order. The video
