I was told it's possible with doing something along the lines of hotkeys and alt/win+number (one to each input, I assume) I am interested in ways of doing this. The "All Notes" list is a virtual file system, yes. But there are no "shared links", because what you would end up with would be a bunch of notes containing information from the same source. This would mean every note to be updated, since all "shared links" would be updated. I'm sure this would be inconvenient and slow.
