The incidents have been seen in high crime areas and in some major cities, such as Los Angeles, thieves have been posing as police officers to take pictures of their victims. Police say it has become a "common practice" and the gangs have been using the stolen images to threaten victims and put them into bank accounts. Los Angeles Police Department Sergeant Austin Lee told KTLA: "This is pretty prevalent throughout LA. They [the gangs] find people they can trust, they get these individuals to go with them on occasion and then they take the camera and take pictures." The gangsters pretend to be police and take the pictures, and show the pictures to the victim, then leave a small bag of cash, usually around $50. The gangsters have even been known to take the pictures in bathrooms. Capt. Andrew Smith of the Los Angeles Police Department said: "I've seen a gang member go into a bathroom stall, they take a picture, they come out and give the victim a small amount of cash." KTLA reports that in many cases, there is a fake bill of sale or fob, usually containing a fake name or identification number, as well as a fake number belonging to the

Overview of the main features of ELDEN RING game MIDDLEMAN 15 カニカ ゴミカメQ: How do I write such an SQL? I'm trying to write a very simple code to search for the shipping address city from a bunch of stuff. Here is the relation between the tables I've got: customers: +--------+ |id | +--------+ |customer| +--------+ cities: +----------+ |id | +----------+ |city | +----------+ orders: +----------+ |id | +----------+ |id_city | +----------+ Orders have an id_city which is a foreign key to cities.id. I'm trying to get an SQL query that does this: SELECT * FROM customers c WHERE c.id = '1' AND CITY ='somecity'; PS: I'm using MySQL and PhpMyAdmin. A: SELECT * FROM customers c WHERE c.id = '1' AND c.city ='somecity'; Posted tagged 'skeletal remains' (Originally published in the National Post, Aug. 10, 2010) The skeletons of 58 people who went missing during the Red River flood have been found. They were found scattered over a wide area around Fort Garry, Manitoba. The first 18 skeletons were found by divers, the rest were dug up by archaeologists. "Like twigs on the riverbed," Winnipeg Free Press's Michael Armstrong said in a November headline. He wrote, "Their bones and clothes were strewn among the bones of moose and beaver, of wild onions and cabbageweed." In fact, he wrote, "What stunned them was the sharpness of their bones. No sharks had mauled them, no flooding had swallowed them. They must have been killed a long time ago by some violent and sad end." The bodies of 70 people were found near the Canadian River in Oklahoma in November 2009. They had apparently been there a very long time. "It may be a long time
