Details "HyperMotion Technology enables you to create the best footy player you have ever played with," said Peter Moore. "By building a player that is a tangible representation of the perfect human footballer it is possible to ensure that using 'ACOG' (Advanced Combat Optical Gunsight) to aim down the sights, your shot is where it needs to be to score the goal."

The 'HyperMotion' animation technology has been implemented at every key point of the game, from the instinctive actions of your goalkeeper to the technique and improvisation of your forward. The development team has sought feedback from their community in the form of pre-release questionnaires asking the community to give feedback on the game. In total, the team received 11,000 responses from fans and developers. These were used to fine-tune the animation features in the game, in addition to assisting the development team in their quest to create the most realistic goalkeepers and full-backs ever seen in a video game. FIFA is the best football game on the planet. The way you play is focused, fast-paced and intuitive. Your team is your own. Tactics, formations, tactics, formations. And then it's your team against the world. Do you feel those hands in the snow, the wet grass under your feet, the defenders, the crowd, the ball? Everyone around you? Everyone watching? That's what FIFA is. Once you stop playing you can work on improving your team, your tactics or your soccer skills. The simulator in FIFA is the most realistic ever. Almost perfect. Close enough. But it's the game experience, the playing, that lives and breathes. FIFA gives you that in spades. FIFA is what soccer is. FIFA is football in a way that gives you a greater connection to the game and with the world of football than any other football game has ever achieved. FIFA is about the ball. FIFA is about both teams. FIFA is everything you could want in a football game. You want to play in the best football match ever? Try FIFA. You want the most realistic experience? You'll never find a game that comes close to FIFA. You want to take your player from being good to great? You'll be spending more hours building your player than any other football game ever has. What do the components of FIFA look like? The box is FIFA. Take the box. The box is what makes FIFA special. The box is FIFA. Take the box. The box is what makes FIFA special. If FIFA wasn't boxed, what would it look like? It would look much the same. But there's more, because even if the box is a fundamental part of FIFA, the box is not the story of FIFA. The box is FIFA. Take the box. If FIFA wasn't boxed, what would it look like? It would look much the same. But there's more, because even if the box is a fundamental part of FIFA, the box is not the story of FIFA. A key element is the world. The world is the game. There's a lot of places to play, and so much to do. It's not just about the score,
