XFORCE KEYGEN INFRAWORKS IPAD APP 2008 Â .A waiter has claimed that an irate customer turned his lunch into his 'last supper' after slating him for not answering his phone. The 32-year-old waiter, who spoke to The Sun on condition of anonymity, has claimed the incident happened on May 16 at a bar in Surrey. He said the customer became increasingly irate that he could not answer his phone. The waiter told The Sun: "The man was so rude. He came into the bar and started causing a scene. "He got mad I couldn't answer my phone and told me that if I wasn't going to answer it that I shouldn't be serving anyone. "I tried to tell him that I answered my phone and tried to help him but he just kept getting more and more upset. "He accused me of not being a waiter and not knowing what I was doing. I ended up apologising as I knew I had overreacted. "I gave him a free drink and apologised again but he had his last ever meal. He went all the way to the bar to get a new drink and took pictures of himself drinking it. "It was a really upsetting incident and I still feel really bad about it to this day. "He seemed to be drunk and was completely out of control. "He seemed to have had an argument with his wife, which is
