Published by Expelex Media, Inc., Elden Ring is an action RPG. In this game, players assume the role of a Tarnished Lord who will rise through a dungeon to find the goddess. Those who repeatedly play this game will eventually ascend to the pinnacle of a dungeon. The “Stone World” is a 3D virtual world that has four key elements. These elements are a dungeon, a town, a field, and a mountain. Players can freely advance and move through them. In Stone World, the speed of movement is extremely fast, which is a first for an RPG. Stone World is not necessarily in the same location. It’s a global world, so it’s more like an expansive RPG than an RPG series. Stone World contains a vast amount of information, and you can explore the world freely with your character, but you will need to acquire items to increase your levels, acquire rewards, and develop your character. ----- * This game is not related to "The Legend of Zelda: Ocarina of Time" -----

As a follow-up to the release of "Fantasy Action RPG

-Tarnished Lands", the next downloadable content has been announced. Character creation! How to expand to a new world! Rarity-Up! A variety of items for you to customize your role-playing game The release date for the new content is scheduled for the month of May. Recently, the "Rarity-Up" update was announced to create a variety of new items for the players. With the new content, you can enjoy the gameplay by increasing the value of the existing items. After completing the new item creation event, it will be possible to obtain the items from your existing inventory at 20% discount. The number of items to obtain will be based on the amount of silver you have accumulated during the event period. You can earn a variety of items depending on your progress at the event. In addition, it was announced that the "Rarity-Up" event will be held until May 15, 2017. After that date, some of the event items will be available for purchase and other items will be removed. The game software is updated at regular intervals, but the content such as new items for sale will be updated in a different manner. In preparation for the event, we will announce the launch date for this event in the next week. After the launch of the new content, the event period will come to a close. Players who become Tarnished after the event will be removed from the event. To continue to enjoy gameplay, we ask for your patience and understanding as we work to continue to improve the game. By enjoying the game, we want to create a new world for you to live in. Thank you. -

Q: Cross operator * does not exist for the type boolean I can't seem to be able to get this to work. Can someone take a look at my code below and tell me what I'm doing wrong? My goal is to make the initial_status a optional object, and treat the other objects as optional as well, however, I'm still getting the error "x does not contain a definition for *Cross operator". My goal is to see if the status in the canvas is true, and if it is, I want to run some code, but only if the value of the 'initial_status' is not equal to true. If the value is true, I want to do nothing. Type Binding Syntax: ('bool', object) => bool If (initial_status * Cross(criteria_else)) { //run code } else { //Do nothing }

A: Cross operator: do not understand how to It is a bit hard to do, because what * does is a lot more than just concatenate the results of two Object instances. That all being said. The return value of the Cross operator is a bool that denotes whether any of the provided Object instances evaluated to true. To validate if the value is true, I want to do nothing You can do this by writing the following: return initial_status * Cross(criteria_else); Note that this expression may never evaluate to anything other than false. If you write: return

`initial_status.ToString() * Cross(criteria_else.ToString());` Then the resulting value may evaluate to 'true' for statements like; `int i = 1 + 1 / 2;` That is the reason why you probably get the error when going through a Type Binding. in the sequel series? Q: $p(x) = \sum_{i=0}^n a_i x^i$ is polynomial of degree $\leq n$ and that divide each other $a_0 \neq 0$ is true Let $p(x) = \sum_{i=0}^n a_i x^i$ be a polynomial of degree $\leq n$. Prove: (i) If $a_0 \neq 0$, then $p(x)$ divides each polynomial $p(x) - a_0$, $p(x) - a_1 x$, ..., $p(x) - a_{n-1} x^{n-1}$. (ii) If $\sum_{i=0}^n a_i x^i$ is the product of polynomials $p(x)$, $q(x)$, then $q(x)$ divides $p(x)$. A: (i) Clear, as a_0 doesn't occur in $p(x)$ and the coefficients of $p(x)$ are all non-zero. (ii) See exercise 3.3.17 in P.K.S. Bhaskara, Bhaskaracharya: The Mahabhaskariya. We have $\left(\sum_{i=0}^n a_i x^i\right)\left(\sum_{j=0}^m b_j x^j\right) = \sum_{i=0}^n \sum_{j=0}^m a_i b_j x^{i+j}$ Now, $\sum_{j=0}^m b_j a_i x^{i+j} = \sum_{j=0}^m b_j (a_i x)^j = \sum_{j=0}^m b_j \left(\frac{a_i x}{a_i}\right)^j$
