Biologia 1 Estrada Polimodal Pdf 34It's a real head-scratcher as to why a three-time Pro Bowler and sure-fire hall of fame caliber running back would risk pissing off his teammates by declaring he's never going to return to Tennessee. In the aftermath of his Thursday morning meeting with Titans reporters at the NFL combine, and in no uncertain terms, Chris Johnson made clear that he's ready to lay down the gauntlet and put all of his resources into leaving Tennessee, leaving the door wide open for a trade. "I'm not going to try to hold on to this spot, I'm not going to hold on to that spot," Johnson said. "If the right offer comes, come and get me." Instead of doing his due diligence on the Titans, Johnson admitted that he's "probably looking for the perfect situation." He went on to say that if the Titans don't offer a fair deal and they are unwilling to make a reasonable trade proposal, then he's all in on getting out of Tennessee. The hope for Johnson's camp is to get a deal done and get out of town as quickly as possible. No huge deal for Tennessee will get the third-year back, who feels like he's "become a distraction."
